Public Bonds To Build New Ferries

By ALEC MERRIMAN

There will be a new issue of parity bonds in August or September to pay for the new Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen ferries, Premier Bennett told the legislature yesterday.

"There will be another great lineup for them . . . I am not saying what interest rates

New Judge?

Likely successor to Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane, who retired yesterday, is Victoria barrister Robert A. Woolton, according to a report from Tom Green, Colonial correspondent in Ottawa.

"I recognized a good deal when I saw it . . . a good idea and a good deal," said CCF leader Robert Strachan.

"We do not oppose the idea of having citizens invest in our public enterprise," said Liberal leader Ray Perrault.

February Never Duller

March swept in like a soggy lion this morning with gale warnings and high winds predicted for this area after the dullest February on record.

Only 51 hours of sunshine were recorded here. Previous low was 36.5 hours in February, 1956.

SIXTH-WETTEST

It was the wettest February since 1940, when 7.08 inches of rain fell compared with 5.86 inches until yesterday afternoon, and the sixth-wettest February in 73 years of recorded rainfall. Record for February was set in 1881 when 8.84 inches of rain drenched the city.

Weatherman William Maude was not prepared to say last night whether March would go out like a lamb. "It's a bit too far ahead to predict," he said.

Nkrumah
Ready
To Rise

ACCRA, Ghana (Reuters)—President Kwame Nkrumah will raise the question of South Africa's racial policies at the coming Commonwealth prime ministers' conference if no one else does, a foreign affairs ministry spokesman says.

He described the issues as "the problem of apartheid and racial discrimination practiced in South Africa."

Sioux Crew
Ordered Out

HALIFAX (CP)—The destroyer Sioux prepared for an unexpected departure from port Tuesday night to carry out what the navy described as "a normal investigation" off the Nova Scotia coast.

CCF Scores Socreds For Silence, Secrecy

Gagliardi Had To Pay

Highways Minister Gagliardi has had to pay his $1,000 fine and all legal expenses out of his own pocket, Premier Bennett assured the legislature yesterday.

When asked who would pay the costs, the premier replied: "The point has never been considered. The treasury has paid nothing."

Smear!
Smear!
—Bennett

By PETER BRUTON

The Social Credit government should resign, it has no right to sit in office, Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said yesterday.

He charged that the government had gone back on its election promises and for the first time in history a Commonwealth government was trying to outlaw the legally-elected opposition, he said. "Smear, same old smear," cried Premier Bennett.

WHEN I WAS A CHILD

Mr. Strachan was speaking in reply to a 20-minute, arm-waving speech by the premier at the close of Monday's sitting.

"When I was a child I used to do childish things," said the CCF chieftain. "When I became a man I tried to put childish things behind me."

GONE INTO ORBIT

He said the premier had "gone into orbit."

"He knows his government is headed for the last round-up," he said. "He was a little more shrill, a little more feverish, and a little more desperate . . ."

WE CONDEMN YOU

He said the government's performance sometimes reminded him of a circus he used to go to see in his native Glasgow.

"We condemn you because you have public documents you keep secret," said Mr. Strachan. "Where is the Carruthers report? . . . Where is the RCMP report on Sommers? Where is the RCMP report on the highways department? You talk about secret documents in the Coalition days . . . this government has secret files too."

PETERSON QUERIES

"Do you believe police reports should be made public?" asked Education Minister Leslie R. Peterson.

"You just listen to me," flared Mr. Strachan.

He said he had been reading a book by Sir Winston Churchill in which it was stated that the late British prime minister A. J. Balfour had followed a policy of remaining in office at any price.

WILD TALK

"Still a smear," shouted Premier Bennett. "Wild talk from a wild man. Wild talk from a wild man."

"You don't like the truth coming from this side of the House," retorted Mr. Strachan. "Same old smear," continued the premier.

SHARES DROP

Mr. Strachan said the premier had brought in six bills, all increasing taxation. The shares of the B.C. Electric, he said, had dropped by $1.50 since the premier's hint that the government might be forced to take over the utility company.

"Now who's wrecking the economy?" asked the CCF leader. "After the way you've gone back on your election promises this government should resign. You've no right to sit in office."

FRIGHTFUL INDIGNITY

When Premier Bennett jumped to his feet to reply, the chairman, Alex Matthew

Rivals Merge To Fight Reds

ELISABETHVILLE (UPI)—Three Congolese anti-Communist governments buried their feuds Tuesday in a military alliance to meet the "danger of a new Korean war" posed by the Red-supported Stanleyville regime of Antoine Gizenga.

Branding UN peace efforts "useless" in a Congo menaced by the tyranny of Communism, leaders of the central government, South Kasai and Katanga signed an accord in record time.

PEACE PARLEY

Congolese Premier Joseph Ileo, Katanga President Moise Tshombe and South Kasai President Albert Kalonji invited Gizenga and other Lumumbist chiefs to meet them on Madagascar March 5 in effort to settle the crisis.

A diplomatic observer close to the talks said the agreement means the Congo is closer to solving its problems than ever before.

He said it is obvious extremes have been overruled and the way is therefore cleared for moderates to go ahead.

BOGGED-DOWN

Shortly after the surprise accord was announced, reports said the advance of Lumumbist troops from Stanleyville toward Leopoldville appeared

Gigantic Barge Started

Construction began yesterday at Yarrow's Ltd. shipyard of an $800,000 steel log carrier barge for MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd.

John Wallace, general manager of Yarrow's, said the job will take four months and employ 100 men. The vessel will be the largest self-loading and unloading log barge in the world, he said.

It will be 340 feet long, 64 feet in beam, with a depth of 19 feet six inches. Carrying capacity will be 6,700 tons or 165,000 board feet of logs. The barge will carry two pedestal-mounted, 65-ton cranes, each equipped with an 85-foot log boom and a grapple device for loading.

Standard equipment on the barge will be a 20-foot steel diesel-powered tug, lifted on and off by one of the cranes.

UN Ready To Force Congo Peace

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Dag Hammarskjold warned Congolese President Kasavubu Tuesday that the UN has the military strength to override political opposition and impose peace on the Congo.

He added the UN could not permit political leaders to hamper effective efforts to stop civil war.

Menacing Rats Stop Children's Games

NANAIMO — Chase River children are not allowed to play out of doors because of a serious rat menace.

Nanaimo city council has been told the city garbage dump has attracted the rats into the Chase River area.

Miss Margaret Maver, secretary of the Chase River fire improvement district, said "parents are afraid to let their small children go out to play by themselves."

She drew council's attention to the "deplorable state" of the city dump.

Another complaint lodged by residents was the dump's stench and smoke. Nanaimo recently tightened regulations which require periodic inspection of the dump by the city and health department officials.

The color, a blue silk flag fringed with gold and bearing the regiment's battle honors of two world wars, is believed to have disappeared from its locked, shatterproof glass case Feb. 19. The negus was withheld in the belief that the color was the work of a prankster.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

The telephone aroused me from bed, where I had gone early in the evening, hoping to get rid of a cold. I can't stand leaving a telephone unanswered, so I leaped down the stairs two or three at a time—a curious performance for a man who had just decided that he was too tired to do any work.

Usually the telephone stops ringing and goes blank just as I reach the bottom step, and I am left wondering who it was on the telephone—an irritating riddle with no answer.

Shreds of Pyjama Coat

I hoped it might turn out to be a wrong number. No such luck. I knew this lady's voice. She was a friend.

"You sound terrible," she said.

"Oh, it's nothing," I answered modestly. "Not nearly as bad as it sounds. Just a touch of laryngitis. Just a cold. But you don't sound too well yourself."

"Yes, but you need take care of a cold," she said.

"You're right," I acknowledged, and tried to wrap the shreds of my pyjama coat around me. I believe in getting the maximum possible mileage out of garments

Not Fair to Take Sides

"Mike didn't look after his cold, and you know what happened to him," she said.

"Brrr! No, I don't remember. I had made up my mind now, about the coat. It wasn't fair to take sides. The lungs and the kidneys would each get a share. What happened to Mike?" I asked.

"Pneumonia." "Gosh."

"He died of it." "I'm sorry to hear that," I said, trying to sound as reverent as I could, while my teeth were chattering.

White Women Die In Riot Death Trap

ORAN, Algeria (UPI) — A mob of Moslems, numbering 1,000, roamed through the streets Tuesday in a sudden nationalist outburst of burning and killing.

The rioters burned to death two elderly European women in their car, killed a Moslem auxiliary policeman and in juried three other Europeans. The mob deliberately imprisoned the women in their car until they died. Two male companions escaped.

The outbreak came during a general strike called as a sign of mourning for the late King Mohammed V of Morocco.

'Atomic Cocktail' Eases Goitre But Pressure Means Surgery

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, MD

"Dear Dr. Molner: I am bothered with a goitre, is there anything that can be done about it, besides an operation?" —MRS. W. D.

Maybe yes, maybe no. There are different kinds of goitres and different degrees of annoyance or trouble. If there are symptoms of pressure, surgery is usually necessary. Some goitres, however, can be handled successfully by anti-thyroid drugs and others by the use of radioactive iodine taken by mouth in the so-called 'atomic cocktail.'

The doctor in charge of your case is the best judge, and to boil things down to the nub, the answer is to go to him and ask him, rather than trying to guess whether surgery is or isn't necessary. In fact, if you don't put things off, you have a much better chance of avoiding surgery.

Opposition Charge:

Businessmen Dominate Job Council

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker Tuesday announced appointment of 24 men and one woman as members of the National Productivity Council, set up to breathe new life into Canadian industry.

He immediately ran into criticism both in the Commons from opposition leaders and outside from appointee Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress. The CLC was not consulted on labor representation, he said.

TOO LIMITED

Liberals leader Pearson said the members are distinguished Canadians, but the council's powers were too limited to deal with the economic problems.

CCF Leader Argue Said the

"I hope my coughing and wheezing isn't getting on your nerves," I said.

"Not at all. Are you taking anything for it?"

"No, but . . ."

"Well, get something. And go straight to bed. Go on!"

"If you insist," I said. "Good bye."

And I dragged myself up the stairs, gasping and coughing. She had convinced me that I was sick.

Aerial sightseeing in the Victoria area will become a fact starting next week.

Choice of three air tours, ranging from 30 minutes to three hours, will then be available, according to William Cove, charter sales representative for Victoria Flying Service.

The firm operates out of Patricia Bay, and the city base will be C & C Taxi.

Short tour will be a 60-mile flight encompassing Saanich Peninsula, Gulf Islands and west to Sooke, at a cost of $15 or an average $5 per passenger in the three-passenger aircraft to be used at first.

Four Government

The chairman and four members were drawn from industry and commerce; five each from labor, agriculture and other primary industries and the general public; four from government and the director.

ANNUAL GRANT

The council, whose only woman member is Anna Speers, a Winnipeg businesswoman, will be financed by a $150,000 annual federal grant but will be charitable for income tax purposes and will employ private funds subscribed for its work. The government will match private gifts.

Execute Girl's Killer 'Lynch Mob' Demands

NEW YORK (UPI)—An angry crowd of 500 tenement dwellers massed outside a west side police headquarters Tuesday demanding execution of Fred Thompson, confessed sex-killer of Edith "Google" Kiecorius.

A police sergeant and 10 patrolmen took up posts outside to keep back demonstrators undaunted by a freezing rain and snow.

There was no indication at first if Thompson, captured earlier Tuesday in New Jersey, would be brought to the station house. One patrolman said he hoped not.

"These people are angry," he said.

The station house is only one block from the rooming house where the 16-year-old Google was assaulted and killed last Wednesday.

Crudely-made signs carried by some of the demonstrators demanded Thompson's immediate execution.

A young Puerto Rican girl warned a newsman: "They may try to kill him. He's an animal."

Police said the bad weather was the only thing keeping the crowd down.

"It would be a lot worse if this were good weather," a patrolman said.

However, the "lynch mob" left later when police said Thompson was in another New York police station.

'Complete Flag By Centenary'

Lack of a common symbol such as a Canadian national flag is most unfortunate, a prominent historian said here yesterday.

Prof. A. R. M. Lower is in Victoria to address the Canadian Club at the start of a lecture tour.

He said it would be fitting for Canada to design a flag and unfurl it on Parliament Hill July 1, 1967, during centennial celebrations of confederation.

"A national flag should carry traditional emblems of both (French and English) peoples," he said, suggesting such a flag could be centred on a Maple Leaf and containing both the Fleur de Lis and Union Jack.

Stiff sentences were handed down yesterday to three youths charged with breaking, entering and theft and with theft of a truck.

In city court Wayne Doersam, 21, of 723 Yates, was visibly shaken when sent to Oakalla for two years less a day for breaking into the Beacon Drive In, 128 Douglas, Feb. 19, and for theft of a truck from a used car lot the same night.

Later in Saanich court he was given a concurrent term for breaking into Trans-Canada Service Station, 480 Burnside West, and Saanich Service Station, 3351 Douglas, the same night.

Congo Action Needed

IT IS now abundantly clear that United Nations troops must stand on their own in any operations to restore law and order to the Congo Republic.

Events of the past few days have amply demonstrated that the task facing the UN Congo Command is far larger than originally envisaged by the General Assembly and undoubtedly — though regrettably — calls for the use of punitive measures and the employment of a stronger military force if an effective goal is to be reached.

The longer such measures are delayed the firmer will become entrenched the rival warlords of the disseminated country, whose objectives are dictated purely and simply by motives of self-power.

In this category there now must be placed President Kasavubu in company with the other opposing "strong men" such as the late Premier Lumumba's successor, Antoine Gizza; Moise Tshombe of Katanga province, and half-a-dozen other assorted premiers, colonels and generals all commanding their own private armies.

The battle lines have been sharply delineated — from now on it is the UN force versus the rest. However, on his side Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold has the solid backing of the Afro-Asian nations and the approval of the Security Council in any action he sees fit to take to bring peace to the Congo.

His way, therefore, is clear. The time has come to use force. Even that great disciple of pacifism, Premier Nehru of India, agrees that it is the only course left and has offered to send armed troops to help carry it out.

Canada, too, has offered Mr. Hammarskjold increased support, though whether this will be in the form of armed troops is not yet known.

In the meantime, until the United Nations Command uses its full force to impose peace, Congolese peasants will continue to live under a reign of terror and UN troops—Canadians among them—may expect to be ill-treated, abused and even murdered.

There is little point in the Canadian government registering any protest on such matters until the authority of the United Nations is acknowledged by the governments involved in the operation to see that such authority is established immediately. And time is running out.

End Result Is the Same

IN AN effort to have the taxation on beer reduced, the Dominion Brewers Association has told the federal government that Canada is changing its drinking habits toward hard liquor and it fears the results may be harmful to the country.

The submission shows that in the past seven years consumption of beer has increased only 1 per cent yet the number of alcoholics has risen by 24 per cent. The brewers then point out in the same period spirits sales have gone up 17 per cent and wine drinking is 32 per cent higher. Ergo, the sales of spirit and wines have been the cause of more drunkenness.

The beer industry calls on various scientific authorities to support its argument that beer is the most preferable of alcoholic beverages from the point of view of temperament. If beer was made less costly, they say, more beer would be drunk, and that would turn people away from the allegedly more dangerous practice of drinking spirits and wine.

Temperance people will find this a little hard to swallow. The main difference between becoming inebriated on beer and spirits is that it takes more in volume and longer in time with the former.

The end result is the same. If beer is reduced in price, the drinking motorist will get more for his money, and he will be a bigger menace on the road when he drives himself home. And when he gets there his wife and family are not likely to feel any more kindly disposed towards him if the source of his indulgence is beer instead of spirits, or even wine.

The brewers should have thought out a better way of seeking extra business and extra profit. As the saying goes: "A drunk is a drunk is a drunk."

Less expensive beer can never be a cure for over-indulgence.

No Racial Bias

THE police commission has found that the police officer who arrested a young Chinese car driver following a collision—an incident brought up in the House—acted properly and was not motivated by racial bias.

This is reassuring. The Chinese community is one of the best observers of law and order in the city, and its members seldom cause any trouble. They are also equal citizens with all others. By the same token of course their infrequent court appearances supports the view that the police treat them as they do others.

One notes nevertheless that the commission added a recommendation that in borderline cases police officers should bend backwards to ease the situation by taking a wide view of the letter of the law. Presumably the commission feels some instances do suggest a too zealous application of police authority.

This incident draws attention to the wide powers permitted a police officer by the motor vehicles act. Perhaps they are too wide. They make it possible for immediate arrest at the discretion of an officer of anyone whom the officer thinks is driving too carelessly. Some such authority is necessary, no doubt, but an over-cautious traffic officer could probably fill the city jail any day in the week.

Some motorists being what they are a traffic policeman has no easy job. He must decide instantly and on the spot the manner of his interrogation and the degree of authority he will impose. Nor are car drivers always full of politeness and consideration themselves. If the officers were too easy on offenders traffic control would soon get out of hand.

The onus thus falls on the policeman and his judgment and it is a weighty responsibility, for precipitate or immoderate action on his part might mean undue expense and the indignity of a jail cell for a motorist who might not have offended greatly against the law.

One aspect of the case in question bears comment. As Commissioner Hamilton remarked the bail set by the presiding judge seems excessive.

Interpreting the News

Red China Issue Awkward

By HAROLD MORRISON,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OLD friends and allies of the United States are placing the American government in an embarrassing spot on the Red China issue.

President Kennedy is reported to be looking forward to his April meeting with Prime Minister Macmillan in the hope of bridging the Anglo-American chasm that has opened on the issue of admitting the Chinese mainland to the United Nations.

Prominent American authorities say they still expect to prevent the Communists from taking the China seat when the question comes up before the General Assembly probably next September.

But they admit support for such a position is being whittled away by various public declarations, including that of Lord Home, Britain's foreign secretary, who earlier this month said: "The facts of international life require that Communist China should be seated in the UN."

Now Brazil, which long had supported the American-initiated UN moratorium on debate of seating Communist China, has come out in favor of ending the moratorium and there apparently is some support in the new Brazilian administration to bring the Red China into the world assembly.

The danger for the United States is that Brazil, as a major Latin power, may influence other Latin countries to follow her policy. The vote in favor of the moratorium narrowed last year. The United States will need every vote she can get if she is to continue her battle against mainland China.

There is evidence that the Kennedy administration is at least considering a two-China policy—involving UN membership for mainland China as well as Formosa.

But there is no evidence that Communist China would agree to such a policy. It has repeatedly maintained its claim to Formosa, which now holds a General Assembly seat and the permanent China seat in the Security Council.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes — and ships — and sealing wax — of cabbages and kings"

By TOM TAYLOR

I AM GLAD I don't have any servants to spill the secrets of my unofficial moments. I dare say that even so some folks talk of me behind my back, as the saying goes: probably everyone indulges in this human habit. It is part of the social scene.

There is always the chance, too, that what they say may not be unfavorable: some of it at any rate.

I am moved to this reflection by the news report of a book written by a member of the White House staff, giving her impressions of the presidents she has served and their first ladies.

Initial reaction is that this should give Buckingham Palace a rest. Most of these high-level titbits have been concerned with British royalty, not presidential personages. Perhaps the butler who left the Armstrong-Jones and went to America has set an example. For all its republicanism, you know, else how explain the terminology of sultana of swat, movie queens, beef barons and oil kings.

It is unfair of servants of course to kiss and tell, as it were. Even a great man is no hero to his valet — excepting perhaps Churchill, of whom many attendants have spilled the beans in recollections mostly tinged with affection. Not that he need fear from any domestic disclosures. He is somehow above and beyond all this sort of thing now. And anyway he has pretty well disclosed all the facets of his character himself.

But I remember long ago, in the days when the former Prince of Wales enjoyed a popularity not quite his any more, seeing movie shots of Edward watching a horse race. He was sitting unaware with his back to the camera and indulged in a few remarks that caused everyone to laugh. They shouldn't have, for a candid camera could make us all look foolish.

This was a reminder, however, that celebrities are vulnerable to cameras and the pens of those who wait on them.

Yet we all gobble up these spicy off-the-record stories with relish. Women especially will read with gusto that Mrs. Roosevelt was quick to fire servants if they angered her, although lesser chateaines have done this also. And that although Mrs. Eisenhower had a hot temper she suffered from ill-health and never fired anyone.

Yours truly was struck by the allegation that President Eisenhower had an explosive temper too. Throughout his career he has been fashioned as the great conciliator, the man of calm mind able to keep his more volatile subordinates in check. That is certainly the picture painted of him as a supreme commander in war.

However, he would be rather a peculiar person who never let his blood rush to his head at times, and I should fancy that being a U.S. president in this troubled world is enough to try the patience of any man. Eisenhower is none the worse of the disclosure that he had lots of ginger in him.

Come to think of it I seem to have heard tell at the time of the Suez crisis that he told off Anthony Eden in language that sizzled the telephone cables. What Eden said in reply, alas, I never heard, which is a pity because this swash statesman is also alleged to have a temper that could burst its bounds on occasion.

Unfortunately there was no maid or butler listening in.

Mind you, it's not quite cricket for ex-domestics to become the biographers of the famous people they serve. Even a celebrity is a private person some of the time, and, probably, no more given to queer behavior than those keeping private diaries.

Still and all these books do titillate, and I don't suppose Mr. Eisenhower will suffer one iota in public esteem because of the revelations of Mrs. Lilian Parks.

President Kennedy is apparently not taking any chances, however; henceforth White House domestics will have to pledge not to reveal any White House secrets.

That is going to rob us of some fun eight years hence.

Shipyard Transformation

New Trends in Japan

By JOHN CAMPBELL from Tokyo

TWO giant 130,000-ton oil tankers now on the drawing boards for a Japanese oil company symbolize a new trend which is transforming the Japanese shipbuilding industry.

Since 1956, when it launched 1,746,000 gross tons of shipping, Japan's shipbuilding industry has led the world in terms of output. But much of its initial prosperity was due to the Suez crisis and to the heavy demand for "super-tankers" which followed the temporary closing of the Suez Canal.

By developing the block construction system, by which sections weighing hundreds of tons were fabricated simultaneously and then lifted into place, and by introducing the most modern equipment, Japanese yards were able to cut both costs and construction time.

But although this efficiency has enabled Japan to offer more rapid delivery than any other country, it has also meant that Japanese yards eat up their backlog of orders faster than those in other countries. In addition, the surplus capacity now available in the tanker industry has sharply cut new orders from companies operating tankers under Liberian, Panamanian and Costa Rican flags.

The requirements of Japan's own shipping lines have fallen even more sharply. Although provided with government loans covering up to 80 per cent of the cost of constructing new tonnage, major Japanese lines are now staggering under a colossal load of debt and are reluctant to continue expanding their fleets. At the end of 1960, shipping firms were in debt to the tune of £267 million and were forced to ask for government permission to postpone repaying part of the debt.

To meet the challenge of a falling backlog and an ailing domestic shipping industry, Japanese shipbuilders have hit on two schemes which are proving highly successful:

Dishonors About Even

The Art of Protest

By CASSANDRA, from London

THE art of protest is a complicated and delicate one and recently we have been subjected to several interesting examples.

In Moscow a crowd spontaneously-by-order mobbed the Belgian Embassy and then impulsively by rearrangement broke windows and threw ink bombs at the building.

In reply Belgian students got up to similar hooligan antics in Brussels against the Russian Embassy. In the end the dishonors were about even.

In London a crowd of several thousand protested against the Polaris missile-base agreement by sitting down outside the Ministry of Defence just off Whitehall.

The aged Bertrand Russell, looking like a very severe pelican, led the movement which came to its climax in a truly beautiful incident. When the venerable peer tried to nail his proclamation to the front door of the Ministry a polite official suggested to him that nails might do damage and would he please use some sticky tape.

Earl Russell, who dislikes destruction of any kind, whether it is the super-wreckage from the blast, fire and radiation of a thermo-nuclear bomb or nasty scratches on wood, graciously obliged.

I couldn't help thinking of Lady Macbeth's furie and resolute cry:

"... Show your courage to the sticking place, and we'll not fail."

It doesn't strike the same thunderous note when you bring it up to date: "Sticky-tape your courage to the Ministry front door, and we'll not fail."

Somewhat the suffragettes with their chains, in Downing Street long ago seemed to do it better.

Earl Russell now threatens intensified measures in the future—resulting, he hopes, in thousands of arrests.

He will quickly discover that "stepped-up" passive resistance can all too easily merge into something much uglier.

It seems to me, that with the explosive demonstrations outside the Belgian Embassy protesting against the abominable murder of Mr. Lumumba we have enough trouble on our hands.

Here's a nice quiet piece of music for you. It is an American recording of Tchaikovsky's 1812 Overture on one side and Beethoven's Leonore No. 3 Overture on the other side.

The advertisement says that these two lullabies needed the use of three orchestras plus augmented brass and percussion; French Charleville muskets; British Brown Bear muskets; 6-pound French cannon made in 1761; 6-pound British cannon made in 1755; 12-pound eighteenth-century howitzer; 188 cannon shot and 25 musket volleys synchronized precisely with the music.

The Sunday Times have published the first instalment of Field Marshal Alexander's war memoirs. Evidently realizing that the public may get tired, exasperatingly bored with these old soldiers' tales they have headed the first instalment "The Last Word On The War."

The opening cannonade is a gigantic piece of turgid writing over 6,000 words long. It has every regurgitated ingredient of the war-bore in full production. Tales about Monty's hat. Tales about Winston's cigar. Fulsome tributes to brother officers and, of course, the inescapable, the inevitable tribute to Rommel.

The reputed figure that the Field Marshal has been paid for his recollection is £50,000.

There is no doubt that these warhorses have made a packet out of their service to the Crown. In the First World War it was the so-called hard-faced businessmen who did well out of the war. In the 1939-45 job it was the highest ranks of the military who wielded the golden sword.

The only civilian to rival them in this interminable business was Sir Anthony Eden, who was paid £100,000 to give his version of a more recent military exploit—Suez.

From not one of them came a single person to assist. From the Volkswehr came the wife of the toiler to help him. A pedestrian, with parcels in his arms, laid them down on the sidewalk and stepped out to help. In the assembling cars, everybody else sat fat, not fat; and a few looked their horns.

"When we speak of Canadian culture," says Livingston, "just what have we in mind?"

Persian Gulf to Japan and between them they will bring in half the company's annual requirements of crude.

Idemitsu officials say that each ship will cost about £5 million, but add that the transportation cost of oil will be about 30 per cent less than the cost of using 47,000-ton vessels.

Although about 30 per cent of the oil imported by Japanese oil companies is carried in 30 company-operated tankers, this proportion is expected to rise to at least 50 per cent within two years.

The steel companies are following a similar trend—both for ore carriers and for bulk coal carriers. At the end of 1960, shipbuilding firms had orders for 17 ore carriers amounting to 387,000 gross tons. To transport coking coal from the east coast of the United States and from Australia, several 30,000-ton bulk coal carriers are also under construction.

A major Japanese producer of chemical fertilizer recently entered the shipping field by constructing a bulk carrier specially designed for the rapid loading and unloading of ammonium sulphate fertilizer. Cement companies—nearly all of which are located on Japan's indented coastline—are also increasing orders for bulk carriers, both for exporting cement and for delivering it to other parts of Japan.

A new development is the construction of tankers for the transportation of chemicals and liquid petroleum gas (LPG). At present on order are five chemical xylene carriers totalling 23,000 deadweight tons and two butane carriers.

The trend toward importing LPG is even more marked. Japanese gas companies estimate that LPG brought from Venezuela in specialized tankers can be sold in Japan for about 20 per cent less than domestically produced gas. Previously, LPG had to be carried under high pressure and transportation over long distances has been difficult. But the development of liquification through freezing has solved this problem, even though LPG tankers are complicated to build.

A subsidiary of a big Japanese rubber company has just placed an order for a 15,000-ton LPG tanker and others are expected to follow soon. Despite the difficulties facing the world shipping market, therefore, there is every indication that the Japanese shipbuilding industry will continue to work at close to full capacity for the foreseeable future.

Letters to the EditorProud of Forebears

May I inform your Victoria readers that the views of the president of the Canadian Postal Employees' Association regarding immigration are not necessarily those of the whole association. It appears to this writer, and very probably you, that his views and his manner of addressing much to be desired.

The Victoria branch of the postal association shall submit a letter of protest to our national office, through our regional vice-president. Many of us here today are descendants of people now long gone, and are proud of the fact that our forefathers had the stamina and courage to call a new land home, and remain to contribute to our present status of greatness among the nations of the world.

Secretary, Victoria Branch, C.P.E.

Raise the Rates

The unemployment spectre is like the poor relation, who everyone hopes won't turn up but knows he is invariably will, and as a lot of our eminent economists have said, unemployment is a chronic case in our society. Steps should be taken to treat it accordingly.

It must be obvious that the individual contributions being paid in at present will have to be substantially raised and it's to be hoped raised enough so anyone can collect benefits until such times as they can be found work.

What is the difference between a man exhausting his unemployment benefits and being put on welfare, or staying where he is? Both come out of the public treasury.

The present system does not encourage anyone to save a little because if he uses up any savings before he can apply for welfare, whereas if one has a little put to one side, that with unemployment benefits can still maintain a fairly decent standard of living.

Oxygen Required

Some favorable comments came the way through the brief letter, "Safer in Orbit," printed in The Daily Colonist. One comment said: "A nuclear fall-out shelter would require an oxygen tank since there would be no big ventilator to intake deadly radio fall-out poisons. Also shelters built under a garage would require a power pump, especially in winter, to keep the area from flooding." Another: "A 10 by 10 cavity wouldn't have a ghost of a chance for safety if such a bomb dropped nearby, which we know has earthquake vibrations, just a waste of money to build a man-trap." Safer in Orbit (your title) was right.

Hawley, 39, a veteran of the Wyatt Earp TV series, heard last month that the owner of a 3,000-foot stretch of beach couldn't be found — so he claimed it. Same thing happened last week over all the city's waterline property.

Retiring Judge's AdviceCurb 'Silly Drinking'

Mr. Justice Arthur D. Macfarlane looked back on 18 years as resident judge in Victoria for the Supreme Court and hoped something might be done to curb "infantile drinking."

Mr. Justice Macfarlane, 78, who retired yesterday, said "one thing has always impressed me" among cases in recent years—the fact that many stemmed from silly drinking.

"Year after year most criminal cases have arisen from that sort of beginning. I would like to see something done to face this situation properly."

Such drinking problems, he said, are a part of the social unrest that developed during the Second World War, and are reflected in civil and criminal cases; in the number of adoptions and divorces.

"However, I'm happy to see an improvement recently," he said.

"Such work is a field in which the law itself can, and should, play a major part."

Exclusive Contractors' Group Meets Here

CANFOR APPOINTMENT

ALEX CLARKE

Mr. G. S. Coverton, Manager, is pleased to announce the appointment of Mr. Alex Clarke as Branch Manager and Sales Representative for Canfor Building Products Limited, Victoria and Nanaimo. With eleven years service as Sales Manager for Brookes Woodworking Company, pioneer B.C. door manufacturers, Mr. Clarke is well-known and highly regarded by retail lumber dealers across Canada.

ustrial construction of a province-wide, interprovincial or national nature and to have established a reputation for skill, integrity and responsibility in certain specialized fields.

TIGHTLY KNIT

"It is a tightly knit organization," said association president George A. Wilkinson. "Most of our members work on a world-wide basis and only a few companies qualify."

At a press conference in the Empress Hotel yesterday, vice-president R. J. Waugh, of the Lummus Co. of Canada, replying to the question that few of the members appeared to be B.C., or even Canadian, in origin, said: "We do not look upon ourselves as being Canadian, or even U.S., but international in our outlook."

WORLD OVER

"Members of this association pride themselves in having a specialized know-how that we make available the world over," he said.

Mr. Waugh added that, while Canadian firms were acknowledged construction experts in the aluminum, hydro electric and pulp and paper industries, they still required know-how from abroad in many other fields of endeavor.

ALL EXPERTS

"In our association's worldwide dealings we use men of different countries who are experts in their particular jobs no matter where the project may be."

The international aspect of the association did not go far enough for one of the delegates, Alex Lundy of Foster Wheeler Ltd., a gregarious

Irishman with a thick Ulster brogue, said: "Internationalism is not enough. We must think globally if there is to be any future for the world."

SEAT CHINA

Mr. Lundy agreed that there should be no withholding of Red China or any other country from the United Nations and that "nationalism was dead. But he thought Canada should have its own flag, and he admitted the difficulties of sinking racial prejudices when in his own country (Ireland), the north and the south were still full of hatred of one another.

The purpose of the convention, according to Mr. Wilkinson, is for the members to deliberate on the economy of the nation and "to decide how we can best help. Our members are vitally interested because we are suffering from lack of work."

TEN OR THIRTY?

He said his own firm, Marwell Construction, was operating at about 10 per cent of its capacity, but other members thought he was over-pessimistic and that the industry as a whole was working more closely to 30 per cent of maximum.

Mr. Wilkinson in his annual report said part of the trouble was that Canadians would not provide the capital for many development projects in the country.

Maximum

Victoria Kinsmen Club this week spelled out details of its offer to sponsor construction of a new health centre for the Saanich and Southern Vancouver Island Health Unit.

Rae McDonald, chairman of the Kinsmen's building committee, told Saanich council the club estimates cost of a joint health and welfare centre at $135,000. The club is prepared to contribute 20 per cent of the cost of building the health centre up to $25,000.

OTHER SHARES

Federal and provincial governments would contribute $15,000 each, he said, societies using facilities, $20,500, and Saanich $41,500.

He estimated that the additional facilities for welfare services would cost $20,000.

POLICY GROUP

The council agreed to appointment of a policy committee of two representatives each from the Kinsmen Club, health unit and council and one representative from the welfare department.

Kinsmen participation is limited to construction of the health centre section and does not include cost of landscaping or similar work, Mr. McDonald added.

Court Clerk Wins Tribute On Final Day

Tribute was paid yesterday to Arthur Hall on his final day as clerk of the court for Saanich police. He had held the post since August, 1950.

"He has been of great assistance at all times, and I would like to thank him for these attributes," said Magistrate William Ostler.

Mr. Hall started court reporting in 1917 at Swift Current.

After years in the Court of Queen's Bench at Moose Jaw, he moved to Victoria in 1947 to work with the Supreme Court here and at Nanaimo. Succeeding him is Tom Nisbett.

Algeria Break Near

India Raises Defence Bill

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—India yesterday increased its annual defense bill by 183,000,000 rupees ($32,000,000) for a total estimated expenditure of 2,800,000,000 rupees ($365,000,000). Finance Minister Morarji Desai announced.

PARIS (UPI)—President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia said Tuesday that President Charles de Gaulle is determined to go "to the very limit" in his drive for peace in Algeria.

Bourguiba predicted new developments in the six-year-old Algerian crisis "in a matter of days."

The Tunisian leader, who spent all day Monday in secret talks with De Gaulle, made this prediction in a brief statement before he left for Morocco to attend the funeral of King Mohammed V.

"I have the impression that we made a big step forward yesterday and that in a few weeks—there will be a new a few days.

development in this Algerian question," he told newsmen.

Bourguiba did not spell out what he meant, but observers believed he was hinting that direct peace talks between France and the Algerian Moslem rebels may begin within weeks—there will be a new a few days.

"It's been like a roller coaster ride. He's been loved, criticized, need, praised and blamed. Life with him is not a million laughs. Sure there are thrills and excitement, but there are heartaches, too. Yet there's never been a dull moment in my life with Jack Paar." Countless people think they know him. "The Jack Paar Show" keeps millions of TV sets burning far into the night. And yet, probably only one person in the world understands him well enough to write this incredible story—Miriam, his wife. Garden Notes

Meet the Rose Clan

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

With rose-planting time upon us, the novice gardener should know that this is a very large family indeed. Members of the tribe include such diverse critters as the apple, the strawberry, the quince, the hawthorn and the mountain ash.

Within the group of true roses, the family is again divided into classes, according to the habit of growth, and it is most important to keep an eye on these classifications when you go shopping for plants. Each plant carries a label which gives the name of the rose, sometimes its color and nearly always its classification, usually in abbreviated form.

These classifications may be Hybrid Tea, abbreviated as H.T., Hybrid Perpetual (H.P.), Polyanthus (Poly), Floribunda (Flora), Climber (Climb) or Rambler (Ramb.). I imagine quite a few newcomers to gardening don't have a clue as to what these terms mean, so it might clear the air if I were to take time out to explain them here and now.

HYBRID PERPETUAL (H.P.)—Along about 1840, this race of hardy hybrid roses appeared in Europe and became tremendously popular with our grandparents. Up to this time, most commonly-grown roses produced one flush of bloom in June, then no more flowers for the rest of the year; the hybrid perennials were the first to produce a second crop of flowers later in the summer, hence the name perpetual. Actually, this is a misnomer, for the H.P. roses bloom only in the spring and fall, with nothing much between.

We don't see many of the H.P. roses around these days as the more modern types have pretty well taken over the spotlight, although the rather blowsy Frau Karl Druski and the fragrant crimson George Dickson are still sold in vast numbers every year.

HYBRID TEA (H.T.)—The first of the hybrid teas, a rose called La France, was produced in 1867 by crossing an H.P. rose with one of the tea-scented roses from China. This gave us a rose which, while not quite as hardy as the older H.P. kinds, would keep on blooming all summer and is actually more "perpetual" than the H.P. race. The bushes are usually small and neat and many of the H.T. roses have brown, purple or reddish foliage, with flower buds pointed or vase-shaped. Some are very fragrant; some have no discernible scent at all.

With most kinds, the tip of each shoot will bear three buds, of which two are nipped out, leaving one perfect rose on a long stem. This is the kind the florist sells, and it is unexcellled for cut-flower work.

FLORIBUNDA OR POLYANTHUS—The obvious meaning of the word floribunda is an abundance of flowers. These are the cluster roses, bearing a number of blooms on each stem, ideal for garden decoration. They haven't quite the chaste refinement of the H.T. roses and are not as good for cut-flower purposes, but with their profusion of blooms they can keep the outdoor beds blazin' with color.

There isn't a very clear distinction between the floribunda and polyanthus roses. Some European growers call all their cluster roses polyanthus, but the custom here is to use this term only for the small-flowered kinds, while the floribundas will have blooms almost as big as the H.T. roses.

A few years ago a new race was bred with bigger blooms and much bigger bushes, for which the term Grandiflora was coined. The variety Queen Elizabeth was the first of this new race, and it is still the most popular of the grandifloras.

RAMBLERS AND CLIMBERS—The difference between climbing and rambler roses is simply one of habit of growth. Ramblers make long slender canes with dense clusters of smallish blooms, while climbing roses make stouter, more permanent canes—which are not pruned so ruthlessly—and bear flowers similar to the H.T. kinds. Dorothy Perkins is a good example of a rambler rose, while climbing peace and Paul's scarlet are typical of the climbers.

There are a number of other types, some of them very old, such as the moss, cabbage and Provence roses. Shrub roses bearing single "wild rose" blooms are becoming increasingly popular for hedges and in mixed shrub border, while the miniature and sweetheart roses are having quite a vogue as houseplants and for border and rockery work outdoors.

John Crosby

Literate Without Apology

One of the little noted and deeply significant facts of the last 15 years is the growing influence and circulation of the small, quality magazines—the Saturday Review, Harper's, The Atlantic Monthly, The Scientific American (which is the new whiz kid of the whole group), and, of course, The New Yorker (which has always been rich).

As the little magazines grow stronger and richer, the plight of the mass magazines—also a little known fact and even today only a dimly understood one even in their own hierarchy—grows steadily more serious.

Collier's and The Woman's Home Companion, two of the great mass magazines, which were always on our living-room table when I was growing up, have been in their graves, lo, these last five years. Some other mass magazines are said to be in trouble. The New Yorker, on the other hand, with a tidy little circulation of 428,300, had a whopping net profit, the biggest of any magazine.

In its current issue, The Saturday Review's editor, Norman Cousins, explains to his readers that it has just completed merger (or pooling-of-interest, as he calls it) with McCall's and this editorial contains some interesting—interesting, heck, astounding—figures. "When E. DeGolyer acquired ownership of Saturday Review, it had a small but noble readership (23,000) . . . Today, SR has a net paid readership of 260,000 . . . We are somewhat startled to see SR's name listed by publishing trade journals among the nation's leading magazines in advertising revenue."

All this is a tremendously encouraging sign of the nation's growing cultural majority, and, conversely, a severe repudiation (in the place it hurts worst, the pocketbook) of those who consider the taste of the country unyieldingly low and trivial. I dropped in on Mr. Cousins to ask this all this portended.

"There's been a revolution in the last 15 years," said Mr. Cousins. Fifteen years ago a fairly small group of people had to claw its way to the market place of taste. That has changed in two ways. First, it's no longer a small group. Second, you don't have to fight your way in any more. Taste is no longer the sanctum of the few. It's now possible to be literate without apology."

Most of the mass magazines have been saddled and, I think, crippled by research and survey. (You send a team out to ask the public what it wants or what it will stand for, being particularly sensitive about what it won't stand for, and then tailor your content to what the public says it wants—or doesn't want.) Not The Saturday Review.

"The job of an editor—at least this particular editor," said Mr. Cousins simply, "is to have a pretty clear idea what he wants to do. Then if he falls flat on his face, you've got the wrong fellow. We don't have time to make surveys. Sure we make mistakes. If an editor continually makes serious mistakes, he ought to get out of the business. But the readers look to us for leadership; that's why they come to us. We have a profound respect for our readers but we don't expect them to tell us how to edit a magazine. I don't say we give the readers things they don't want. We try to anticipate their needs and wants."

Hollywood Today

Quiz Whiz Cashes In

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—There's one TV quiz show contestant who made the most of his opportunity. Marty Ingels was in the army at the time he won $7,000 on the now-deceased "Name That Tune" show. When he was discharged two months later, he used the money to put together a show-business routine. Today he has two movies under his civilian belt—"Armed Command" and "Ladies Man"—and Jerry Lewis has adopted him for a protege. Marty has also appeared in more than a dozen top TV shows.

Tina Louise took me to her yoga class, conducted by the famed Indra Devi. I did most of the exercises, stood on my head and felt fine. But I'm a nervous automobile passenger, and Tina has just acquired a car. Well, I've just about recovered from the drive.

Tony Steel, who was married to Anita Ekberg, is back in London to reactivate his career. The worst part of being married to Anita, says Tony, was being known as Mr. Ekberg. This hurt. Before the marriage he was a top star in England.

In "Paris Blues," Sidney Poitier, who is tone deaf, played the role of a jazz saxophonist. Sidney, a perfectionist, practiced morning, noon and night, to make sure his saxing looked and sounded right. It drove everyone in his vicinity crazy, but I'm told the finished result justifies it all.

Gardner McKay has a brother who is even better looking than the TV star. He's working as delivery man and salesman for a liquor concern, and in his spare time writing for TV.

A near neighbor of Jacques Bergerac and Dorothy Malone says there have been Bognac-Jurado type battles. But when I had dinner with Jacques and Dorothy at Trader Vic's they seemed divinely happy. It certainly isn't easy to be married in Hollywood where every tiff gets blown up to mountain size.

Robert Wagner celebrated his 30th birthday with wife Natalie, Claire Trevor and her husband Milton Berle, and Natalie's most recent film, "Splendor in the Grass." Bob has seen it five times. Greater love hath no husband!

Brigitte Bardot admits to being curious about life in the U.S., but adds she can't stand the idea or more cameras clicking away at her all day. "Photographers have ruined my life," she complains . . . those undressing scenes in Brigitte's "Only for Love" movie are only for strong-minded adults.

The Warner Brothers executives have found a look-alike for James Garner and will introduce him as his twin next season in "Maverick." The series hasn't been the same since Jim up and left.

Adolphe Menjou, one of the earliest of the actors to go into television, has succumbed to another series. He will be a regular with Orson Bean in "The Secret Life of James Thurber," which four star's Tom McDermott is producing.

Dinah Shore asked Tony Perkins to perk a little song with her on April 30 show—Dinah's show. "Like Young," was conceived by Andre Previn who will also be on it. The Academy Awards are April 17. And with Tony and Andre both potential winners, Dinah is booking them optimistically.

Alpine Autumn Featured In Color Slide Program

"Dazzling Light and Dark" highly talented photographer, Shade" is the title of a color slide program to be presented faculty and an examiner at by Boris Roubakine at 8 p.m. the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto.

Story of a stormy autumn, sored by the Victoria chapter in the Swiss Alps, this is the of the Royal Toronto second such program to be bursary of Music Alumni, given by Mr. Roubakine in proceeds in aid of the Victoria. Besides being a bursary fund.

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own homes without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one "hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction of retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—the improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were as thorough

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

that sufferers were able to make statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

These cases, without the use of narcotics, anaesthesia or antiseptics of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppositories or enemas in form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

'Silent, Secret' Socreds Draw Opposition Wrath

(SC—Vancouver Centre) reorganized Mr. Macfarlane (L—Oak Bay).

The premier kept on saying he had a right to be heard, to answer the CCF leader. In the end Mr. Matthew recognized the premier.

"That's a frightful indignity to force on the chairman," said a scarlet-faced Tony Gargrave (CCF—Mackenzie). "You made the chairman change his ruling."

"The Liberals and the CCF are always afraid when the premier speaks," snapped Premier Bennett.

"I complained about your manners not your policies," answered Mr. Gargrave.

"Can't I speak to my own salary vote?" continued the premier.

Mr. Macfarlane assured both important questions put to the premier Monday and yesterday and the only answer he received was silence.

"No answers will come," said Premier Bennett.

The premier said a tremendous amount of engineering had been done by the Peace River power promoters and he only wished there had been as much on the Columbia.

BEST IN NATION

"Now we have submitted the questions to the B.C. Energy Board and now we want the answers," he said.

The B.C. public accounts were the best in the nation and he had great confidence in the PGE. The ferry service was doing very well and the ferries would make a profit.

"See," said the premier.

David Barrett (CCF—Diedrich) said he had heard many hide nothing."

Parley Will 'X-Ray' Citizens of B.C.

Citizens of British Columbia will come under scrutiny of experts during a three-day meeting which starts today in the Empress Hotel.

Theme of the 13th annual B.C. Resources Conference is "the British Columbian as a product of his environment."

Education and Labor Minister Leslie Peterson will open the meeting at 9 a.m. He will be followed by authorities in many fields of development who will discuss living habits and trends in the province.

Subjects of discussions include the status of the B.C. citizen, his relation to industries and pollution control, the youth of the province, culture and the law.

The resources conference—a body representing industry, the university and government—will introduce a new book by Campbell River magistrate and author Rodger Haig Brown.

"The Living Land" is produced by the conference and deals with natural resources of B.C. It is printed on the "first fine quality book paper" ever made in the province. The book is a companion volume to the B.C. Atlas of Resources.

Mr. Haig-Brown will be guest speaker at a Thursday luncheon in the hotel ballroom.

Cowichan Cocktail

Writer Takes A Raincheck

Colonist outdoors editor Alec Merriman yesterday declined "with thanks" the invitation of Duncan Mayor Jack Dobson to drink an "effluent cocktail" from the up-island city's proposed Simon-pure sewage disposal system.

Following Merriman's warning to sportsmen that the system could and probably would pollute part of the Cowichan River or Cowichan Bay, or both, Mayor Dobson issued a statement saying the product of the proposed system would be pure water and asked the outdoors writer to come and drink a "friendly effluent toast" with him.

"I gratefully decline the invitation," said Merriman last night.

B.C. Orders Survey Of Pollution Threat

Provincial fisheries biologists will conduct a survey to see if either of two proposed sewer systems to serve Duncan pose a pollution threat to the Cowichan River or Cowichan Bay.

Recreation Minister Earle Westwood disclosed yesterday he has ordered the survey, following a story in the Colonist that Duncan is considering three systems of sewage disposal—a pipeline to dump at tidewater in Cowichan Bay, a lagoon-type system, and a costly, but safe, mechanical system.

The Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association fishing chapter, at its meeting Monday night, voted to seek a meeting with the Cowichan Fish and Game Club to discuss the pollution situation. Areas that could be polluted are on the borderline of the jurisdictional areas of the two clubs, and it was felt a united front would be most effective.

'Left Bank' Left Without Decision

Public works committee came close yesterday to recommending to city council that it permit establishment of an artists' "Parisian-style Left Bank" on the Causeway in the summer; but then decided to give the matter more thought.

"Summer's a long way off," Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said.

The committee learned that both the advisory planning commission and the Chamber of Commerce had approved the proposal of the Victoria Society of Artists to have selected artists work and sell paintings at the south end of the Causeway. It seemed about to recommend council approval when Ald. Edgelow and Ald. J. L. W. McLean were assailed by doubts.

Ald. McLean wondered about setting a precedent in allowing selling on the streets, and Ald. Edgelow—despite assurance from the society that art dealers had no objections—wondered about merchants' opinions.

Although he said he favored the proposal, Ald. McLean also wondered how Victoria would end up, continually imitating other cities.

"What sort of hedgehog conglomeration are we going to have finally if all these things go on?" he said.

Keep Union To Ferries

John Tisdale (SC—Saanchi) yesterday asked Premier Bennett to name the two new government ferries MV Saanchi and MV Victoria. "And that is as close as we want to come to amalgamation," he said.

Famed Four Fit to Move

ALBERNI—RCMP here are probing a renewed outbreak of arson and attempted arson.

Latest targets of an arsonist who is believed to have tried to set fire to two provincial government vehicles last month were a warehouse operated by Alberni's Mayor Manel Anderson and her family as part of Anderson's Groceries, and the private car of a policeman.

SECOND TRY

It was the second attempt to burn the policeman's car.

Mayor Anderson was still at city hall following the regular council meeting when the alarm went.

Her husband, Bill Anderson, had left council chambers 20 minutes earlier, but it was a passerby who first saw the blaze and turned in the alarm.

VOLUNTEER EFFORT

Alberni volunteer fire department, of which John Anderson, son of the mayor and Mr. Anderson, is a member, extinguished the fire.

Chief Sandy Gilmour reported that goods in the warehouse were not extensively damaged but flames had broken through the wall of the building.

A can was apparently filled with cleaning fluid from a barrel in Bronson's Hardware warehouse next door and contents were used to ignite debris in a garbage shed beside the Anderson warehouse.

Some charred pieces of paper found under the car of Constable Bruce McDonald were the only evidence of the attempt to burn the vehicle.

INTERIOR FIRES

The same car was found several weeks ago with a home-made fuse with a charred end dangling from the gas tank.

A few weeks after the first attempt on the policeman's car, two government cars were damaged by fire set in the interior of the vehicles.

Single Authority Urged For All Island Ferries

All ferries between Vancouver Island and the mainland should be pooled under government ownership, John Squire (CCF—Alberni) told the legislature yesterday.

He also said the Vancouver to Nanaimo run is too long and too antiquated. "There is a shorter route, if you look for it," he maintained.

Necessities of Life Targets for Thieves

Food and money were targets for thieves who broke into two Greater Victoria establishments overnight Monday.

Saanich police said Lake Hill Quick Freeze Lockers, 3962 Quadra, lost two quarters of beef, two hams and two sides of bacon.

'Paranoid' Executed Murder-Suicide Plan

NANAIMO — A 60-year-old Nanaimo logger who murdered his wife and then committed suicide early yesterday morning was said to have been a paranoid by Coroner H. W. Lewis.

Raymond Leslie Dods killed his wife, Ruby June, 32, a Nanaimo nurse, just after midnight yesterday with a double-barreled, sawed-off shotgun. He then turned the gun on himself.

The coroner's jury ruled last night that deaths were murder-suicide. Showings took place in Mrs. Dods' parents' home at 324 Juniper Street.

WITNESSED DEATHS

Parents Mr. and Mrs. Peter Knutson, aged 84 and 76 respectively, saw the two deaths.

Dr. Lewis told the jury that it was just after midnight that he woke up to hear Ruby's voice. I looked up and saw what looked like a sawed-off shotgun and a man."

He said it must have played on the mind of Dods and he deliberately planned and carried through this murder-suicide. Anyone who gets in this frame of mind must be a paranoid and does what he wants and damns the consequences."

KNEW OF TROUBLE

A witness to the shooting, Mrs. Valborg Verstraete, 49, of St. Albert, Alta., told of events leading up to the murder-suicide.

Mrs. Verstraete said she was a cousin of Mrs. Dods. She had been staying with Mrs. Dods' parents for about two days.

She said she knew about the marital trouble between Dods and his wife.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My wife put your column under my coffee cup this morning. We had such a violent argument on account of you that I missed my bus.

So you don't think women should be asked to pluck the pheasant or clean the fish? And exactly what is a wife supposed to do these days? The modern woman is a self-centred, painted doll, a pleasure-seeking parasite. She was first fashioned out of Adam's rib — a shapeless nothing, then she evolved into a middle-aged, coquettish, fort-loving housecat whose major function is to trick some male into supporting her.

Your daily column is filled with examples of how nice, quiet men are duped by The Modern Day Witch — the Addle-Brained Clotilde Horse. And now you come along and say it's enough that she lets him enjoy the pleasures of hunting and fishing — that she should not be asked to pluck the duck or scale the fish. Perish the thought that a wife should split a nail or worse yet, her girdle — bending over to do a little honest labor. Modern woman is the invention of the devil. And you can quote me. — SOCRATES' UNCLE.

Dear Uncle: Every now and then a rock is moved and something like you crawls out.

Thanks for that glowing testimonial for American womanhood. And how would you like YOUR hemlock, Sir, one lump or two?

Dear Ann Landers: I'm going with a girl who is five years younger than I am. (She's 18.) Maybe this has something to do with the problem. Please tell me if I am wrong or if she is.

Dr. Keenleyside Speaks:

Solution of World's Paradox Task of the United Nations

DR. KEENLEYSIDE

If every adult Canadian paid "additional" taxes equivalent to one cigarette every three weeks, Canada's contribution to the United Nations could be multiplied six times! These were the words of Dr. Hugh L. Keenleyside in his address to the United Church WA Presbytery yesterday afternoon in St. Aidan's Church.

Dr. Keenleyside stressed the varied — work done by the UN in underdeveloped nations, and, as background to his speech, gave some appalling statistics to show the paradoxical situation in the world today.

2% IN LUXURY

We, as Canadians, are among the 2% of the world living, in the eyes of the other 98%, in extreme luxury.

There are agricultural communities living, acting and exchanging daily activities in fundamentally the same way as people did in 4,000 of 5,000 B.C.

During the last 50 years there have been more material changes than in the last 150 years; and in the last 10 years, more than there were in some of the largest countries in the world the annual income is about $150!

FOUR METHODS

It has thus become the task of the United Nations to endeavour to raise economic and social standards throughout the world. There are four methods the UN uses: 1. they provide written materials to countries needing help; 2. they have established a scheme for scholarships and fellowships; 3. they set up in countries demonstration projects and training centres to work out solutions to the countries' problems; and 4. they send experts abroad to work with the governments of the various countries to help solve problems.

Illustrations of the work done by the UN included the example of the request from Pakistan for help in making a steel rolling mill in Karachi work efficiently and effectively. A Yugoslavian expert was sent to Karachi, and after a few months there was a 54% increase in output of the mill.

Greece at the end of the war suffered from a lack of protein for the people's diet. An American expert was sent to set up in a small village a demonstration project for the production of chickens and eggs. Soon the area was producing more eggs than all of Greece together.

In Egypt there is more blindness than in any other country. At Egypt's request, the World Health Organization sent doctors to show the people how to prevent blindness.

She says it makes a girl feel good to be fussed over by her sweetheart and that there's nothing wrong with it if two people are sincere. I reminded her that the two couples in our crowd who were the most lovey-dovey were married and divorced the same year. She said to write to you — SAM.

Dear Sam: Mauling, pawing and kissing in the presence of others is not proof of love — it's just poor taste. Only the insecure mush it up to give the illusion that they're in love, they can't keep their hands off each other to be gushy.

People prove their love by treating one another with consideration and kindness, not by putting on public performances.

PERSONAL MENTION

A Vancouver Island girl will join 23 debutantes from the lower mainland who will make their bows to society at the annual Military Ball in Vancouver's Hotel Vancouver on Friday, May 5. The ball is sponsored by the regiments and units of 24 Militia Group and is held annually to commemorate VE Day. She is Shona Leslys Lewendon Foxall, daughter of Lt.-Col. and Mrs. Leslie Lewendon Foxall, Koksilah. All debutantes are daughters or near relatives of serving or ex-officers of Her Majesty's Armed Forces. They will be feted at a round of teas, luncheons and dinners during the two weeks immediately prior to the ball.

Further illustration of the UN's work was the facts concerning a project still underway. Near the foothills of the Himalayas, north of Pakistan, there is a wide valley that has been for hundreds of years without human or vegetable life. It was, 500 years ago, the centre of an agricultural community. Kubla Khan killed most of the people of the valley and destroyed their work.

Now through efforts of the Food and Agriculture Organization, the American Point Four Program, the UN and the government of the country the valley is again becoming fertile, and in two or three years when irrigation, roads and reforestation are completed, there will be homes for a minimum of 30,000 farming families in the valley.

Carson-Donnelly Vows

A pretty wedding was solemnized in First United Church recently when Iris Ann Donnelly became the bride of Mr. Frank Anderson Carson.

Rev. A. L. Higgins performed the marriage ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Donnelly of Liverpool, England, and the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Carson, 1216 Pandora Avenue.

Given in marriage by Mr. James A. McAllister, the bride was charming in a dress of pink-beige with fur stole and pink-beige velvet hat and veil. She carried a bouquet of roses.

The bride's only attendant, Mrs. James McAllister, chose a frock of blue silk and carried yellow daisies.

The Best man was Mr. Arnold Masters.

Following a reception at the Golden Slipper, the new Mrs. Carson changed into a pale green suit and fur stole for a honey moon trip to the United States.

HOW TO STOP LOOKING OLDER THAN YOUR BIRTHDAYS

What makes a woman's face age prematurely — with crow's feet, little lines, roughness? The answer is skin dryout, a condition caused by harsh weather, overheated rooms, low-fat diets, etc. If this is your problem, try Nil-O-Nal cream, now available. This famous cream, now with Allantoin, starts to repair dry skin in just 10 minutes! Allantoin floats off lifeless surface skin cells, opens the way for swift penetration of Pond's rich moisturized lotion to thirsty tissues far below. Almost overnight, your skin takes on new tone, looks smoother, softer and younger. Pond's special formula will re-moisturize, revitalize even the driest complexion. Get POND'S DAY SKIN CREAM . . . use it regularly. In jar or tube, wherever cosmetics are sold.

Hanging Judge, No—I'm Fearless

VANCOUVER (CP)—"Judges are like whisky in a cask. They mature with the years."

Alexander M. Manson, who reluctantly retired Tuesday as a justice of the British Columbia Supreme Court because of his age, said that in an interview about his 25 years on the bench.

The 77-year-old veteran jurist was forced to retire by a recent amendment to the British North American Act favored by the federal government. It makes the retirement age 75.

Mr. Justice Manson once said: "Justices are appointed for life . . . nobody, not even the prime minister, can say 'Manson you're fired'."

He was called the "hanging judge" by Harold and Ernie Winch in the legislature who voted against labor laws down.

also questioned his "mental right bunk . . . I believe labor stability." He has been criticized as anti-labor by unions. do right

In his interview he had these comments:

"I'm not a hanging judge. I am a fearless judge. Some think it's the sole duty of the court to protect the accused. But it's also the duty to see that society is protected.

I don't fear death and I've never lost a night's sleep over a capital case."

Charged that I am prejudiced against labor, he said:

"As a judge I violated all the rules. I used to tell stories from the bench . . . why sit up there like the Sphinx in Egypt?"

"As for the juries, some are excellent, some are dumb. But I've got great faith in juries. It's a damn safe thing to have 12 men finding the facts instead of one. I've only disagreed with the jury in two cases in 25 years. I do think, though, it is wrong to demand a unanimous finding from a jury in 25 years. I do think, though, it is wrong to demand a unanimous finding from a man can hang it, gum it up."

He said he never had a nasty letter from a prisoner.

"I'm not a sob sister. I'm trying to scare the living daylights out of the people contemplating these dreadful crimes."

Mr. Justice Manson always outspoken, swung out against blundering and inefficiency of detectives. Some officers in charge of criminal cases were dumbbells. Their work was terrible.

He called for a three-man criminal investigation branch, composed of an expert and scholarly criminologist, a scientist and a pathologist, and a lower mainland police training academy.

Public Bonds To Build New Ferries

By ALEC MERRIMAN

There will be a new issue of parity bonds in August or September to pay for the new Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen ferries, Premier Bennett told the legislature yesterday.

"There will be another great lineup for them . . . I am not saying what interest rates

New Judge?

He was support of both Liberals and CCF for his previous issues of parity bonds, only ones of their kind in the world.

"I recognized a good deal when I saw it . . . a good idea and a good deal," said CCF leader Robert Strachan.

"We do not oppose the idea of having citizens invest in our public enterprise," said Liberal leader Ray Perrault.

February Never Duller

March swept in like a soggy lion this morning with gale warnings and high winds predicted for this area after the dullest February on record.

Only 51 hours of sunshine were recorded here. Previous low was 56.5 hours in February, 1956.

SIXTEEN WETTEST

It was the wettest February since 1949, when 7.08 inches of rain fell compared with 5.86 inches until yesterday afternoon, and the sixth-wettest February in 73 years of recorded rainfall. Record for February was set in 1881 when 8.84 inches of rain drenched the city.

W. F. Thompson William Mackie was not prepared to say last night whether March would go out like a lamb. "It's a bit too far ahead to predict," he said.

Nkrumah Ready To Rise

ACCRA, Ghana (Reuters)—President Kwame Nkrumah will raise the question of South Africa's racial policies at the coming Commonwealth prime ministers' conference if no one else does, a foreign affairs ministry spokesman says.

He described the issues as

"the problem of apartheid and racial discrimination practised in South Africa."

HALIFAX (CP)—The destroyer Sioux prepared for an unexpected departure from port Tuesday night to carry out what the navy described as "a normal investigation" off the Nova Scotia coast.

Ottawa Ditched At Road-Opening

OTTAWA (CP)—Works Minister Walker said in the Commons Tuesday neither he nor his deputy had been invited to attend the opening Wednesday of a new link in the Trans-Canada Highway in British Columbia.

NATO Slipping —Diefenbaker

Will John D. Help Ireland Into Commonwealth?

DUBLIN (CP)—Ireland's government is making a major diplomatic event of Prime Minister Diefenbaker's visit here next week.

But officials deny "that there is any political significance" in the visit.

There had been suggestions earlier this year that Ireland should be invited to return to the Commonwealth by a member other than Britain. Some had said that this should be done by Canada.

$2,000,000 Fire Hits Rocket Base

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—An explosion and fire hit the equipment that were mainly under United States control.

Few details were released on the grounds of security.

However, unofficial reports said flames hit an administration building and were stopped in a tunnel leading to the 120-foot-high launching tower.

Gasoline tanks and garages were also reported destroyed.

NO INJURIES

No injuries were reported.

The army said the outbreak started in a generator room. It swep through buildings and equipment that were mainly under United States control.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the organization would contribute to the peace of the world by helping to ensure the economic strength of its members.

PREVENT BREAKUP

It would help prevent the breakup of Europe into trading groups and would bring together in the economic field the European Common Market, European Free Trade Association and North America.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the organization is no substitute for Article II (economic collaboration) of the North Atlantic treaty.

But NATO had failed to implement Article II and the new organization would carry out the hopes of NATO members in the field of economic cooperation and development.

MAULED WATER

Water was hauled to the site on the barren tundra as firemen from the Joint Services Establishment, Fort Churchill, from the townsite and from the U.S. Strategic Air Command tanker base here joined in the fight against the flames.

The outbreak was controlled in about 4½ hours.

Another complaint lodged by residents was the dump's stench and smoke. Nanaimo recently tightened regulations which require periodic inspection of the dump by the city and health department officials.

In a parade at the armories Monday night, the CO formally handed over his regimental cap badge to the adjutant to be held until the regimental color is found or replaced.

The color, a blue silk flag fringed with gold and bearing the regiment's battle honors of two world wars, is believed to have disappeared from its locked, shatterproof glass case Feb. 19. The news was withheld in the belief that the theft was the work of a prankster.

Policeman's Car

Mayor's Warehouse New Arson Target

Cowichan Cocktail

Writer Takes A Raincheck

Colonist outdoors editor Alec Merriman yesterday declined an invitation of Duncan Mayor Jack Dobson to drink an "effluent cocktail" from the up-island city's proposed Simon-pure sewage disposal system.

Following Merriman's warning to sportmen that the system could and probably would pollute part of the Cowichan River or Cowichan Bay, or both, Mayor Dobson issued a statement saying the product of the proposed system would be pure water and asked the outdoors writer to come and drink a "friendly effluent toast" with him.

"I gratefully decline the invitation," said Merriman last night.

ALBERNI—RCMP here are probing a renewed outbreak of arson and attempted arson.

Latest targets of an arsonist who is believed to have tried to set fire to two provincial government vehicles last month were a warehouse operated by Alberni's Mayor Mabel Anderson and her family as part of Anderson's Groceria, and the private car of a policeman.

SECOND TRY

It was the second attempt to burn the policeman's car.

Mayor Anderson was still at city hall following the regular council meeting when the alarm went.

Her husband, Bill Anderson, had left council chambers 20 minutes earlier, but it was a passerby who first saw the blaze and turned in the alarm.

VOLUNTEER REPORT

Alberni volunteer fire department, of which John Anderson, son of the mayor and Mr. Anderson, is a member, extinguished the fire.

Chief Sandy Gilmour reported that goods in the warehouse were not extensively damaged but flames had broken through the wall of the building.

A can was apparently filled with cleaning fluid from a barrel in Bronson's Hardware warehouse next door and contents were used to ignite debris in a garbage shed beside the Anderson warehouse.

Some charred pieces of paper found under the car of Constable Bruce McDonald were the only evidence of the attempt to burn the vehicle.

INTERIOR FIRES

The same car was found several weeks ago with a home-made fuse with a charred end dangling from the gas tank.

A week after the first attempt on the policeman's car, two government cars were damaged by fires set in the interior of the vehicles.

Napoleon is on a chair.

No Labor Boss

Unionist Ticks Off Premier

John Squire (CCF—Alberni) said he considered it "a personal affront to myself and other union officials" when Premier Bennett makes his "unwarranted attacks on labor bosses."

"The premier sets a bad example and is developing a very bad habit when he deals with one of the most responsible groups in the province," he said.

NOT BOSSSES

"How can we expect to have industrial peace when they are at war between Social Credit and labor bosses?"

"I am a responsible union officer. We are not bosses. We are not dishonest. We come from good parents. We have the right to do the job we would like to do. We are held in very high respect by the men we represent."

SO MANY

"When it comes to labor, we get this term labor bosses. I never had so many bosses—4,000 of them," said Mr. Squire, an IWA business agent in Alberni.

"There will have to be a new look in this province at labor," he said.

Single Authority Urged For All Island Ferries

All ferries between Vancouver Island and the mainland should be pooled under government ownership, John Squire (CCF—Alberni) told the legislature yesterday.

He also said the Vancouver to Nanaimo run is too long and too antiquated. "There is a shorter route, if you look for it," he maintained.

Necessities of Life Targets for Thieves

Food and money were targets, the cash box in the cash register was broken into two Greater Victoria establishments overnight Monday.

Saanich police said Lake Hill Quick Freeze Lockers, 3962 Quadra, lost two quarters of beef, two hams and two sides of bacon.

New Park for Island

The B.C. recreation department yesterday took over three miles of river frontage below and above the Burnt Bridge on the Koksilah River for future development as a provincial park, similar to Englishman River or Little Qualicum Parks.

Three-quarters of a mile of outdoor activity on the picturesque Koksilah, will be used as centre for holidaymakers wanting to use nearby Shawinigan Lake. The department hopes to gain a sizeable public access to Shawinigan Lake to complement the development.

No immediate work is planned but the area is well suited for wilderness camping and undoubtedly will be used by picnickers this summer.

The stretch of river fronting the new park includes two or three of the favorite summer steelhead pools, where summer steelhead are caught in May, June and July. The new park will also be a stop-over point on the round trip to Port Renfrew.

School Tax Rate Steady

DUNCAN — There is not likely to be an increase in the city's school tax rate this year although costs are up slightly, city clerk Gordon Berry said yesterday.

Berry said this year will be $105,950, up $3,660 over last year.

"On this basis," Mr. Berry said, "the tax rate for school purposes will remain at 18.39 mills."

He added, however, that the school district budget was still "tentative" and subject to last-minute revision.

SENTEENCED BY MAGISTRATE W. H. BRYANT

W. H. Bryant was Lawrence Joe, 21; Fred Elliott, 18; and George Elliott, 24.

In Ganges police court Monday the same four were convicted on two other counts of breaking and entering summer homes, one at Jacks Creek Island and the other at Gossip Island, and each given nine month sentences.

The sentences will run concurrently.

RCMP said that tools, bedding and other articles were taken from the dwellings.

RCMP—Verdict of accidental death with no blame attached to anyone was returned by a six-man jury inquiring into the Friday woods death of Duncan logger Albert Ruttan.

The two boys, aged between 15 and 16, were remanded for presentence probationary reports yesterday morning.

RCMP said they were closing the books on more than 40 cases of breaking and entering and theft, and at attempted theft.

They said loot in the last six months totalled nearly $10,000. Targets were business firms and coin laundries. The boys had no previous records.

RCMP—The highways department will be asked to give active consideration to reconstructing River Road.

At Alberni council meeting a motion by Ald. T. S. Barnett authorized a letter to Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi to point out that River Road, the arterial highway between Beaver Creek Road and Riverbend Bridge, is not an adequate link with the development beyond the city and with the Tolmie Highway.

'Paranoid' Executed Murder-Suicide Plan

NANAIMO — A 30-year-old Nanaimo logger who murdered his wife and then committed suicide early yesterday morning was said to have been a paranoid by Coroner H. W. Lewis.

Raymond Leslie Dods killed his wife, Ruby June, 32, a Nanaimo nurse, just after midnight yesterday with a double-barreled, sawed-off shotgun. He then turned the gun on himself.

The coroner's jury ruled last night that death was murder.

Public Bonds To Build New Ferries

By ALEC MERRIMAN

There will be a new issue of parity bonds in August or September to pay for the new Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen ferries, Premier Bennett told the legislature yesterday.

"There will be another great lineup for them," he said.

February Never Duller

March swept in like a boggy lion this morning with gale warnings and high winds predicted for this area after the dullest February on record.

Only 51 hours of sunshine were recorded here. Previous low was 56.5 hours in February, 1956.

SIXTH WETTEST

It was the wettest February since 1949, when 7.08 inches of rain fell compared with 5.86 inches until yesterday afternoon, and the sixth-wettest February in 73 years of recorded rainfall. Record for February was set in 1981 when 8.4 inches of rain drenched the city.

Weatherman William Mackie was not prepared to say last night whether March would go out like a lamb. "It's a bit too far ahead to predict," he said.

Nkrumah Ready To Rise

ACCRA, Ghana (Reuters)—President Kwame Nkrumah will raise the question of South Africa's racial policies at the coming Commonwealth prime ministers' conference if no one else does, a foreign affairs ministry spokesman says.

He described the issues as "the problem of apartheid and racial discrimination practised in South Africa."

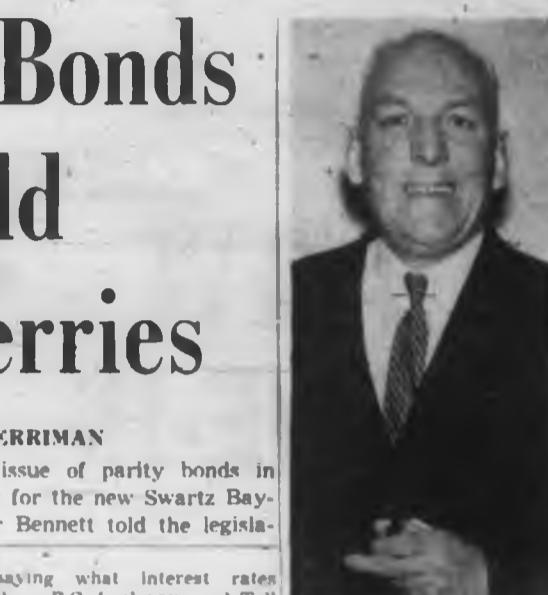

Sioux Crew Ordered Out

HALIFAX (CP)—The destroyer Sioux prepared for an unexpected departure from port Tuesday night to carry out what the navy described as "a normal investigation" off the Nova Scotia coast.

Ottawa Ditched At Road-Opening

OTTAWA (CP)—Works Minister Walker said in the Commons Tuesday neither he nor his deputy has been invited to attend the opening Wednesday of a new link in the Trans-Canada Highway in British Columbia.

He said the federal government had contributed more than $100,000,000 to the high-

New Judge?

Likely successor to Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane, who retired yesterday, is Victoria barrister Robert A. Wootton, according to a report from Tom Green, Colonist correspondent in Ottawa. Three new appointments to B.C. Supreme Court are imminent.

He won support of both Liberals and CCF for previous issues of parity bonds, only one of their kind in the world.

"I recognized a good deal when I saw it... a good idea and a good deal," said CCF leader Robert Strachan.

"We do not oppose the idea of having citizens invest in our public enterprise," said Liberal leader Ray Perrault.

Will John D Help Ireland Into Commonwealth?

DUBLIN (CP)—Ireland's government is making a major diplomatic event of Prime Minister Diefenbaker's visit here next week.

But officials deny "that there is any political significance" in the visit.

There had been suggestions earlier this year that Ireland should be invited to return to the Commonwealth by a member other than Britain. Rome had said that this should be done by Canada.

$2,000,000 Fire Hits Rocket Base

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—An explosion and fire hit the Canadian-American rocket testing base 12 miles east of here in -25 below weather early Tuesday, causing damage estimated at $2,000,000.

All firemen in the area 610 miles north of Winnipeg battled the flames which could be seen from the town at the mouth of the Churchill River.

NO INJURIES

No injuries were reported.

The army said the outbreak started in a generator room. It swept through buildings and equipment that were mainly under United States control. Few details were released on the grounds of security.

However, unofficial reports said flames hit an administration building and were stopped in a tunnel leading to the 120-foot-high launching tower.

MAILED WATER

Gasoline tanks and garages were also reported destroyed.

Water was hauled to the site on the barren tundra as firemen from the Joint Services Establishment, Fort Churchill, from the townsite and from the U.S. Strategic Air Command base here joined in the fight against the flames. The outbreak was controlled in about 4½ hours.

Menacing Rats Stop Children's Games

NANAIMO—Chase River children are not allowed to play out of doors because of a serious rat menace.

Nanaimo city council has been told the city garbage dump has attracted the rats into the Chase River area.

Mrs. Margaret Mavor, secretary of the Chase River fire improvement district, said

"parents are afraid to let their children go out to play by themselves."

She drew council's attention to the "deplorable state" of the city dump.

Another complaint lodged by residents was the dump's stench and smoke. Nanaimo recently tightened regulations which require periodic inspection of the dump by the city and health department officials.

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Col. Angus Duffy, commanding officer of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, has threatened "the most drastic step" will be taken unless the regimental color is returned to its rightful place in the officers' mess.

The bridge company claimed it was entitled to recover the amount under terms of a $1,000,000 property damage and public liability policy it held with the insurance firm.

The insurance company said that the policy did not cover this risk.

Army Theft 'Disgraces' Officer

The color, a blue silk flag

fringed with gold and bearing the regiment's battle honors of two world wars, was believed to have disappeared from its locked, shatterproof glass case

Feb. 19. The news was withheld in the belief that the theft was the work of a prankster.

In a parade at the armories

Monday night, the CO formally handed over his regimental cap badge to the adjutant to be held until the regimental color is found or replaced.

"I am in disgrace," Col.

Duffy said.

"In the past inter-unit rivalry has resulted in the 'capture' of mascots or other regimental objects, but never in my memory has military unit sunk to the level of confiscating the sacred color of another."

Secrecy, Smear Charges Swapped

Gaglardi Paid Up

Highways Minister Gaglardi has had to pay his $1,000 fine and all legal expenses out of his own pocket. Premier Bennett assured the legislature yesterday.

Ocean City In the Soup

Ocean City, N.J., will have biggest, most redundant clam chowder in history as result of freak storm which washed up thousands of bushels of tasty mussels on resort beach. Neogulls are having heyday, but for local residents presence of gulls and clams is fraught with danger as discarded shells crack to ground. — (AP Photo/Max)

Gigantic Barge Started

Construction began yesterday at Yarrows Ltd. shipyard of an $800,000 steel log carrier barge for MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd.

John Wallace, general manager of Yarrows, said the job will take four months and employ 100 men. The vessel will be the largest self-loading and unloading log barge in the world, he said.

It will be 340 feet long, 64 feet in beam, with a depth of 19 feet six inches.

Carrying capacity will be 6,700 tons or 1,500,000 board feet of logs.

The barge will carry two pedestal-mounted 65-ton cranes, each equipped with an 85-foot steel log boom and a grapple device for loading.
